Four quirky-cool introductions target the work-hard, relax-hard modern office scene. The oasis-like QT privacy lounge has an accompanying ottoman, a high-back tufted upholstery (available in seven hues), and fluid curves designed to deflect sound and encourage focus—or, when clustered, intense collaboration. The conscious lounge ships quick and assembles in seconds without tools. Next, Take Aim coffee table in ash veneer transitions from side table to cornhole game via a folding leg and a circular aperture. More sober but no less functional is Cleo credenza in white- or gray-painted ash with four adjustable shelves and cable-access points. A finished back allows the storage piece to double as a partial divider. Lastly, the Take Note table integrates an interchangeable notepad into its natural or painted ash writing surface, whose height adjusts from 12 to 15 inches. Talk about turning a new page. poppin.com. circle 564 >
